Workers Over 75 May Have More Benefits

Increases in old-age social security benefits are still waiting to be claimed by a few residents of Bethel and vicinity. The Lewiston Social Security Office notified the CITIZEN today, John M. Beale, manager of the office, said the type of increase referred to is available to persons 75 years old and past who have been working since the start of 1951, provided their earnings in that time support a higher benefit.

Although 1950 changes in the Social Security Act provided that workers who had reached age 75 could draw benefits while still working, regardless of earnings, they did not permit a beneficiary in this group to have his benefit rate refigured. Further amendments made this past summer remove that bar. The individual of that age can now have a recomputation of the program.

A small admission will be charged for the performance.

MRS. ELNORA WIGHT

Mrs. Elnor Holt Wight, widow of Arthur Wight, passed away at her home in Hanover, Tuesday, after a brief illness. Mr. Wight died in 1934.

She was born in Hanover, April 7, 1886, daughter of Eugene and Etta M. (Holt) Holt and spent her entire life in Hanover. She is survived by an aunt, Mrs. Winona Patterson, South Paris; several cousins.

Funeral services will be held at the Greenleaf funeral home Friday at 2 p.m. Rev Palmer of Lincoln officiating. Interment will be there on each Monday of the month from 1:00 to 3:30 in the Civil Service Room.

Any increase established takes effect within the month in which it is claimed, and not before.

Beale said that not knowing who the individuals are doesn't make him any less confident that there are some who can gain the increase by asking for it. While age 75 suggests pursuits such as checkers and knitting, many of the workers of that age have turned up in the thick of things in business and industry, in some cases doing exacting manual work.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The meeting of the 13th was opened with the Scout Law, Scout Oath and the Salute to the Flag.

Each patrol had a short meeting.

The games of gossip and whiz ball were played, after which the Father patrol gave a demonstration on first aid. Included were: How to Tie a Head, Knee and Foot Bindage and How to Give Artificial Respiration two ways. Scout Reporter, Dennis Robertson.

America Moves Toward Center

The record-breaking turn-out of voters on November 4 and the decisions they rendered gives proof of a number of important facts. Many interpretations will be placed on the Eisenhower landslide, as it reflects the thinking and attitude of the people, but from an educator's viewpoint the most important fact is that the vast majority of the American people can be reached and influenced by educational facts.

Since the election is over, non-partisan observers now are agreeing that a great underlying factor in the election was the Welfare State philosophy. By their vote, 55 per cent of the American electorate apparently have rejected it. There were other issues, some of more immediate concern perhaps, but the difference in the basic political theories of the two parties is reflected by most non-partisan observers to have been one of the major fundamental issues upon which the voters expressed themselves.

"Slightly Left"

President Truman and his administration before him received a slender mandate and their administration as "slightly left of center." The programs which had sponsored but never quite got their wings was considerably left of center. But the platform was established in the items rate platform adopted at Chicago last July. It clearly outlined the position that the nation has the right to buy from the government for or tract the products of various groups of the. The present Republican platform, on the other hand, projects no program of greater responsibility, the importance and wisdom of the citizen's opportunity to provide his own economic needs and wants for himself.

The clear definite signs of a trend toward big paternalistic government were becoming evident 15 years ago. It was also evident then that our administration, a general growth to grow up and know the best of the benefits provided by the areas, an systematic functioning, the real factors to the way of life, others are responsible for our own bad productive.

Broadcasting the Facts

It is time now to begin the task of exposing the facts to make them clear and supporters of our national government and the capitalist system and American interests all employed were doing. Up to toward ending their own employment on their own business or on the principles of private enterprise. In the last several years however a great many small traders have awakened interest administrators and franchises to the handicrafts have begun grouping for suit and American citizenship teaching materials and many American business men have been exposing the economic facts of life to their employees and customers.

If the backward trend is being exposed now it is because the people, weighing the facts as hand fed their self-interest lies in having a less powerful and more middle-of-the-road government. In our thoughts and with our democratic ideals programs, government must constantly reflect the will of the people based on their knowledge their hopes and fears. If a government doesn't reflect the people's will, it is a dictatorship of the People.

In the days of the past the administration will of the people dictated to government that it should be all around within the framework of the constitution to get the nation's economy there on the front line where such measures as the G.I. Bill and the GIANT were taken. The people's will were being used for the good of government and the people's will was to be trusted

Accept the Inevitable

MRS. PEGGY STIRLING, Montreal, tells of being placed in the hospital for a serious goitre operation just one month before her 16th birthday. Her parents had been told that her goitre condition had been the cause of her protruding eyes.

She was happy about the operation for although it was to be very difficult, and the convalescence long, after it was over she would have normal eyes again.

Often her high school classmates, especially the boys, passed horrible remarks about her eyes, calling her names such as "fish eyes." Grownups took time out to stare at her. She had never told her family about those remarks because, knowing they loved her, they would have been as much hurt as she was.

All during the operation she looked forward eagerly to having normal eyes again. The operation required a local anesthetic and she perhaps had more pain than ordinarily would have been the case.

Two days later her kindly old doctor sat by her bed, took her hand and said quietly, "Peggy, you will never have normal eyes again."

How cruel this world could be! At first she wanted to die, for a whole week she fumed and fussed and stormed about the injustice.

Then one day her doctor again sat by her bed and his first words were, "Peggy I'm ashamed of you!" She began to cry, telling him she would never be pretty, that she would never have dates—and why did this have to happen to her? She says she can hear his reply now as if it were yesterday: "How would you like to have two very pretty eyes and never be able to see out of them? You don't know how lucky you are to have your sight which is more important than pretty eyes."

After the doctor left, she remembered his words and decided to accept the inevitable, and more than that, to do something about it. From then on, she read newspapers, and good books, and started going to church and joining organizations. She knew she would need other things that a pretty girl did not require.

It took about five years to realize what she had achieved; that her male friends were as handsome as those of her girl friends. But more than that, they were more intelligent and could talk better. Her eyes never again caused her distress.

FINDING and keeping a job in all the latest methods in warfa-

res. That's why the Chiefs are getting ready to ask Congress for authority to give allied military commanders in Europe all the update data on atomic weapons and their use.

Dollars budgeted for groceries may go a little farther soon, despite continued jumps in the price of eating. This year the farms are reaping an harvest.

There will be more beef than any other meat for the first time, it will be more plentiful than pork. Poultry, vegetables, fruits and dairy products are already meeting buyer resistance.

The increase in beef is caused by cattle growers' increase in their herds. In January, 1952, the U.S. cow herd added up to 86 million head. By the end of the year, it is estimated the nation's herd will be somewhere close to 93 million head.

However, this need not mean a large increase in the amount of steaks or hamburgers at the meat counters in 1953, although we predict that the amount will be larger. Beef growers may only be increasing their plant, preparing for more business in the future. If this business comes and the prices hold good, they'll be ready. If good business and prices don't hold, the cattlemen will unload their herds and resume business as in the few years previous.

Now, we can give a squint at Wash. D. C. It has been going round and round and if you are dizzy, you have oceans of company. But it has not been like the horse on the merry-go-round that didn't eat oats and didn't eat hay—our Washington crew ate it by the bale. It's your hay, folks—what you going to do about it? We been drolle a sucker for short—too long. It is time to raise a ruckus if the new crew don't cut the mustard and pronto like it said it would.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Independent From Local Welfare

The embittered, high-powered campaigning that marked the closing weeks of the Presidential race largely drove from the headlines many a news story of long-pull significance—even as it diverted public attention from developments of top importance to the entire world. High on this list have been the course of the cold war and the status of the hot war in Korea.

Certain facts seem to be self-evident. First, the idea, which was hopefully held some time ago in various quarters, that the Soviet Union wished to come to some sort of reasonable terms with the United States, no longer has credence. It is clear that the only terms in which the Polburo interested are those which would work 100 per cent to Russia's advantage. In his last major speech before the UN General Assembly, Vyshinsky followed the standard Soviet line for well over an hour, accusing this country of practically every crime in the calendar, including the germ warfare charge, and the assertion that the Korean war was being deliberately prolonged so as to profit American bionaires who lust for blood money.

Second, current Soviet strategy has as its basic aim the splitting of the Western powers, to be followed ultimately by the isolation of the U.S. This certainly isn't a new technique, but the work is being intensified. Soviet officials are being very polite these days to certain of the Western nations—particularly those in which there are substantial anti-American blocs, and in which the governments are something less than stalwart. In

The campaign is over, the candidates have had their say, and the people have supplied the decision. But the great problems confronting the American government and the chosen representatives of the American people, remain.

Last, but certainly not least, it is clear that we are as far from a Korean truce as ever, that no one in a responsible position has any definite plan for ending the bloody struggle, and that the Kremlin will do everything possible to keep it going and to force us to spend material and manpower there in an endless stream.

The campaign is over, the candidates have had their say, and the people have supplied the decision. But the great problems confronting the American government and the chosen representatives of the American people, remain.

DEVELOPS VERTICAL POTATO ELEVATOR

Now comes the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station with a new machine that potato men have long desired. This new machine is a vertical potato elevator. Its purpose is to lift potatoes from the basement to the ground floor of potato houses. It can also carry them to upper bins. Belt conveyors bring the potatoes from the bins to the elevator. Buckets take them to their destination. The new elevator handles potatoes rapidly and with the smallest amount of bruising. The inventor is Howard H. Hartlett of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

IS YOUR CAR READY FOR WINTER

Motorists are advised to get their cars ready for colder weather. The Automobile Legal Association advised:

1. Be sure to have your battery fully charged. If it is worn out, it is cheaper in the long run to get a new one.

2. Check distributor points. New points are inexpensive, so get new ones if necessary.

3. Check the spark plugs. If badly worn, they should be replaced. In any event they should be cleaned and gaps checked and adjusted.

4. Be sure the coil is good. The coil is the heart of the ignition system. It converts the low battery voltage to high voltage to operate your car. You may need a new coil if the spark delivered to the spark plugs is weak, even if the plugs are good.

5. Be sure the condenser is in good shape. That is part of the distributor that prevents electric arcs from jumping between distributor points.

6. You should have a set of chains available in your car. You may not like them, but they may be a life saver.

7. Put some sand in the luggage compartment, preferably in a small pail. Sometimes a little sand is all that's needed when you are stuck in snow or ice.

8. Watch out for frozen gas lines. In warm weather air-carried moisture condenses inside the gas tank, is carried through the gas lines and quite often freezes. The best guard is a full gas tank.

9. Have your radiator flushed, make sure there are no leaks, and add some sort of anti-freeze. Make sure the anti-freeze contains no salts.

The thief cometh not, but to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. (John 10:10) Read John 10:17-18.

ONCE when on a bus we passengers found ourselves looking upon a lovely hand in a river flowing between two high banks. The last rays of the setting sun were reflected in the quietly flowing river. One lady remarked, "The loveliness of that scene somehow seems to represent the beauty and goodness of life; it makes me feel glad I'm alive." The lady with whom she was sitting said, "That winding river has always made me think of a huge snake; I don't see anything like it."

How characteristic are those two views of life! We go out of life what we put into it. We see beau-by living only as we contribute beauty and goodness to the on-going stream of life.

Are we reflecting the joy of obedience to Christ as we go about our daily tasks? Are our moral and religious principles so clear-cut and positive that God uses us to guide and direct our neighbors into a radiant and active faith?

Prayer

O Lord of life, grant that we as Christians may so reflect in our daily living the light of Thy Son Jesus that others will believe and want to join in fellowship with Thee. May our lives be built upon the teachings and spirit of Jesus—truth and righteousness which never can be destroyed. In His name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Today I will try to reflect to others the light I have found in Christ.

NEW HONOR FOR DEAN LIBBY

New honors have come to Winthrop G. Libby, associate Dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Maine. He has just been chosen secretary of the Northeastern States Division of the National Land-Grant College Association. The University of Maine is a land-grant college. This name comes from the fact that the Federal government assisted in the establishment of colleges of agriculture through giving them grants of land.

Buying the less popular and less well-known cuts of meat is often a wise practice, says Dr. Kathryn Brusa, Maine Extension Service foods specialist. These cuts are usually more economical than those which are in greater demand.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Maine veterans who served in the armed forces on and after June 27, 1950, and who are entitled to VA compensation for any of three specific types of disabilities, may be eligible for an automobile or other conveyance at VA expense. Manager M. L. Stoddard of the VA Center at Togus, revealed today.

Stoddard listed the qualifying disabilities as: loss or permanent loss of use of one or both feet; loss or permanent loss of one or both hands; or complete loss of sight in both eyes or permanent impairment to vision in both eyes to a point of virtual blindness.

For these veterans, Stoddard said, VA can pay up to $1,800 toward the purchase of an automobile or other conveyance, including such equipment with special attachments and devices as VA may deem necessary for each veteran.

Maine veterans may apply at any VA office for this benefit within three years from October 20, 1951, the date the law was enacted, or three years from the date of their discharge or release from active service when the discharge or release occurs after October 20, 1951.

Question and Answer

Q. I lost one of my legs in the service during World War II and the VA paid $1,000 toward the car I bought when I got out. I'd like to trade my car now for a new one. Am I entitled to another $1,000?

A. No. The law provides but one grant for each eligible veteran.

Letters from other editors

From The Omaha, Iowa, Board: It is our observation that it takes a much longer spell of clear weather than it used to put something away for a rainy day.

From The Highland, Wise, Press: With the talent displayed in the recent play it seems to me that an organization should be formed here to present plays and other home talent programs. Highland seems to be favored with more than its share of good musicians, singers, and other talented people. How about giving them a chance to present their talent to the public?

A step in the right direction has been made with the formation of a city band. The band made its first public appearance in the recent Fair parade, and made a big hit with the crowd. We wish the band the best of success and urge everyone to join the band.

From The Marion, Wise, News: One of the fine public services a city can extend its citizens was demonstrated recently when our citizens received from their city a directory of public officials.

It is one of those intimate gestures that express a sincere desire on the part of the city's officials to serve the needs of Marion. It enables the many new folks in our community to get better acquainted with who makes the wheels go of this group.

MAGALLOWAY

Mrs. Besse Harvey, Corrae. — Mrs. Roland Ripley fractured one of her arms while visiting Mrs. Clifton Littlehale at Upper Dan last week and returned to Fortinoville, N. M., for a while.

Owing to Mrs. Ripley's accident there will be no Farm Bureau meeting held here this month as the meeting was to be at her summer home here.

Corporal Wendell Turner, son of Odian Turner, was married last Friday morning to Miss Violet Williams at the Congregational parsonage in Colebrook by the Rev. George Duke. The bride is a British girl who has just arrived in the U. S. A.

Mrs. Joseph Mooney returned to her home here last Saturday from the Stowntown Hospital, where she had been a patient for a few days.

Church services were held in Wilson's Mills Sunday, Nov. 16. Mr. Duke preached on "Faith and Prayer." Mrs. Duke played the organ.

All the sporting camps are full of hunters and a lot of deer have been killed, also quite a few bears.

A large bear's tracks have been reported at Abbott Brook. The tracks are as large as a large dinner plate.

Mrs. Fred Bennett is not as well as she was when she returned from the hospital at Stewartstown. Her daughter, Mrs. Alton Fogg, and granddaughter, Miss Rachel Turner, visited her over the week end.

The "Hunters' Ball" was held at the Magalloway Town Hall Friday, Nov. 14. It was sponsored by the Pythian Sisters. There was a large crowd and a large amount of money was taken in for the supper and dancing.

Archie Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fogg went to Colebrook Monday, Nov. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewen Cameron and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Harvey and daughters, Kathy and Margaret, were all Sunday guests of Mrs. Mabel Cameron.

From Mrs. Helen Longsized Miller, Beaufort, S.C.: I can remember "before telephones" when grocers and butchers sent an errand boy to back doors to take the day's orders for the delivery wagon to bring in afternoon deliveries.

From Mrs. H. S. Anderson, Mission, Texas.: I remember when rounding a curve in the road seeing a sign posted on a tree which read: "Sound Klaxon."

From Mrs. Bertha Williams, Ft. Recovery, Ohio.: I remember totting water to the leach barrel, gathering walnut hulls for dye; gathering in the nice, dry beachwood with which to bake the pie.

From Belle Smith, Grace, Idaho.: I remember the old horse-powered threshing machine when the threshers all came to the farm. We borrowed dishes, chairs, tables, pans to feed the men, and even the ladies went from house to house to help their neighbors out.

From Verna Moore, Coleman, Mich.: I remember when we used to have an evening in October for making a large iron kettle of apple butter, a barrel of sour kraut. There was a midnight chicken supper for all who came to help.

From Mrs. Edward Koch, Ft. Recovery, Ohio.: I remember when our 10, 25 and 50 cent pieces were in paper money, and we had copper pennies the size of a half dollar, a penny or a mixture of metals that had a shiny eagle on one side. We had copper two cent pieces about the size of a quarter and three cent pieces the size of a dime. We also had very small silver three cent pieces and silver half dimes.

From Mrs. Harriet Jones, Twin Falls, Idaho.: I remember when my mother wore wrappers. We eat them housecoats now. And she made batiste lace to trim our parlor curtains. We went for Sunday afternoon drives in the surrey with the fringe around it.

From I. H. Riley, Waco, Texas.: I remember when there were signs in the Sinton Hotel, Clinton, Ohio, reading: "Do Not Blow Out The Lights." They were natural gas lights.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmount, W. Va.: I remember when the livery barn could be identified by loafers tilted back in chairs before the entrance.

"EASY DOES IT"

MIX SOME SHARP, grated American cheese with canned baked beans and pork. Heat and serve over toast and you'll have a simply-prepared, hearty supper dish.

Put hard-cooked eggs through a sieve and chop with a pastry blender. Add these to mayonnaise with chopped chives and you'll have an elegant dressing for a green salad.

Tiny baking powder biscuits are good for a snack afternoon or evening if they're spread while still warm with cream cheese mixed with deviled ham.

Baked custard always makes a good dessert. Unmold and spoon over it butterscotch sauce and whole pecan halves.

Baked fish for dinner. Bake it on strips of bacon over which you have placed a few crushed bay leaves. The flavor is wonderful.

Diced leftover ham can always be used to extend with ramekin. Ham and cheese are flavor teammates, so you'll have a good combination.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Rare Cream Waffles

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sour milk
- 6 tablespoons butter, melted
- Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well-beaten egg yolks, sour milk and cream, add to flour mixture and beat until smooth. Stir in butter and fold in sturdy beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

Sponge cake gone a bit dry can be a moist frosting dessert when topped with pineapple, cold custard sauce and a sprinkling of moist coconut.

This is the season for both cabbage and apples. shred the cabbage fine, dice the apples with their red skins and mix in cherries-flavored gelatin for a delicious salad.

Top some eggplant slices in egg and coat with bread crumbs. Top with a fried tomato slice and cheese mushrooms. It's a neatly tasting main dish.

To garnish your tomato bean or pea soup with a large slice of gherkin is a good idea. It's especially with crisp, crumbled bacon.

Cocktail?

(Her: "She'll think I'm a sad sack if I say no!")
(She: "I don't want it, but what will be think?")

Do you have to drink, when you're out on a date or a party?

You might think so, to read some advertisements or listen to some radio shows.

Millions of dollars in liquor propaganda are saturating the public with the idea that drinking is socially indispensable.

Smartly dressed men and women, in lavish surroundings, eagerly consume the advertiser's product. Handsome athletes, beautiful girls, even grandmothers try hard to push the public into believing that everyone drinks. Text and commercials imply that alcohol is safe as milk.

But what are the facts?

Actually, liquor is far from the beneficent product that its manufacturers would have you believe. Most people, including those who drink, know that alcohol often causes irreparable harm. It is a depressant, not a stimulant. One out of twenty drinkers becomes an alcoholic.

Why not determine your attitude toward drinking from your viewpoint—not from the viewpoint of those who boast by what you drink? It is a fact that alcohol cannot help you attain health, happiness, or financial security. It is a fact that alcohol can easily cause you to miss out on these. Why be misled by propaganda to the contrary?

For the fact is, again, that drinking is not essential socially, or otherwise. You can get along fine without it. And you need never hesitate to say, "No, thanks, I don't drink." You'll be thought the better of, and feel better, for saying so.

You can get along fine without it!
